

The Messenger

From our Pastors...

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not let them be afraid." John 14:27

It has been wonderful to start having worship together again! Even though it's not what we're used to, it feels good to be together and to worship in person. We miss those who do not feel safe to come to worship, but know that we are together in spirit even if we are not together physically.

If you've come to worship, or watched them online, you know that our services have been different. Some things are missing and some things are done differently, but everything has been planned to keep people as safe as possible in the midst of this pandemic time.

One of the things I really miss in the service right now is the sharing of the peace. I know for many people it feels like a time to greet those sitting close by, but it is actually a time when we give to one another what we say: the peace of Christ. I love to stand in front of the congregation and say, "The peace of Christ be with you always." And you respond, "And also with you." It is a holy moment when the peace of Christ is shared in this simple, yet significant, way. I give it to you. You give it back to me. Then we share it with everyone. We go around and have the opportunity to give people the peace that they need. It's not peace that we give, but peace that Christ gives.

For different people that peace will take on different meanings and different forms. For some it will be peace in the midst of struggle. For some it will be peace in the midst of an exciting time in their lives. For others it will be peace in the midst of what seems like daily chaos, or peace in the midst of uncertainty or grief. For some it might be a continuation of the peace that they find daily.

What I know is that we need that peace. We need Christ's peace in the midst of our lives. I know I've needed it lately. When so many things seem uncertain and there are concerns about health, the pandemic, racial tensions, a presidential election coming up, uncertain weather, and so many other things that affect us every day, we need the peace of Christ. It is not just a sense of calm. The peace of Christ is a promise that God is in charge, and God will remain in charge. There is nothing to be afraid of. There is nothing to be troubled about.

Of course, it's hard to turn off the worry that goes on in our brains, but Jesus assures us that the peace he gives is more than what the world can give us. It is bigger than the events of daily life. It is bigger than our fears. It is bigger than the pandemic and the uncertainty that can loom so large.

So... the peace of Christ be with you always. May it be with you today, and tomorrow and as school starts, and as you look to the future, and to the past. May Christ's peace enfold you in God's love and wrap you in the assurance that you are not alone in whatever you are facing.

You are loved.

Peace, Pastor Cindy

Spring Garden Lutheran Church - Council Meeting Minutes August 6, 2020

In Attendance: Theron Pagel, Brian Lindahl, Randy Benson, Stan Lundell, Cindy Sjoquist, Scott Hanson, Becky Haugen, Monica Erickson, Lisa Emkovik, Pastors Nick & Cindy Fisher-Broin, Treasurer–Rob Lorentz, and Parish Nurse–Yvonne Salmonson

Call to Order: President Theron Pagel called the meeting to order at 7:06 pm in the church outdoor shelter. Opening prayer was given by Pastor Nick.

Secretary's Report: A motion was made by Scott to approve the minutes of the July 9th council meeting. The motion was seconded by Randy and carried.

Financial Secretary's and Treasurer's Reports: Pam's report as of July 31st showed $129,888.00 in pledges year-to-date. Rob reported that the checkbook balance as of July 31st was $28,397.47. Rob noted that the final installment on the PPP loan of $6,319.47 that was left in the General Fund last month was moved to the Market Account to make it easier for Pam to track the income. Brian made a motion to approve the financial reports. The motion was seconded by Scott and carried.

Rob reported that the bill for the Sunday School materials and the Bibles was $808.99. Stan made a motion to use Thrivent Choice Dollars to pay for those items. Scott seconded the motion and it carried.

Parish Nurse Report: Yvonne's report included 2 visits, 25 phone calls, 19 texts, 19.5 hours, 40 miles, and she sent 5 cards. She attended the July council meeting. She also attended the funeral for Harvey Erlanson.

Yvonne reported that a member has tested positive for Covid-19. The member has not been to a worship service since we reopened with in-person worship services. Neither the person nor the spouse can return to work for a month. As a result, the family has fallen into a severe financial hardship for the next month. Yvonne reported that the family is in need of $1,025.00 to cover some living expenses for one month. She suggested that there is unused Hospital Grant Funds that the council could possibly use to help this family. Stan suggested possibly giving the family a smaller amount than requested to preserve more of the Hospital Grant Funds in case the need to help a family in a similar situation arises in the future. After more discussion, Randy made a motion to use $1,025.00 of Hospital Grant Funds to help this family. Scott seconded the motion and it carried.

Stan noted that the council has the authority to rename the Hospital Grant Fund if desired. Rob suggested renaming it the Emergency Relief Fund and allow donations to be made to that fund to better address any emergency relief needs in the future. Randy made a motion to rename the Hospital Grant Fund the Emergency Relief Fund and accept additional donations to that fund. Cindy seconded the motion and it carried.

Action Items:

Proposed Indoor Worship Policy: Pastors Nick & Cindy, Cindy Sjoquist, Sue Safe, and Jay Olson (the Covid-19 Plan Administrator) met to review the new funeral guidelines and to develop an Indoor Worship Policy. The Pastors emailed the council with the proposed guidelines in advance of the council meeting. After some discussion, Brian made a motion to approve the attached Indoor Worship Policy. Cindy seconded the motion and it carried.

Adobe Pro License: When the Mission Endowment Committee met, they expressed the desire to be able to create online forms that could be used for their funding requests. That would be possible with an Adobe Pro license. The Adobe Pro license would also give Rachel the capability of editing PDF types of files that she receives into a format that is more useable for the office; newsletter, bulletins, etc. The cost for the Adobe Pro license is $15.00/month or $180.00 annually. Cindy made a motion to purchase the Adobe Pro license. Brian seconded the motion and it carried.

Church Calendar Review: There was nothing new to add to the calendar.

July Payment to Music Directors: Rob asked about paying Joshua and Allison as music directors for the month of July being they weren't here for any July services. Since the budget for Music Director is for the year and broken into monthly payments, it was suggested that they be paid for July. It was noted that they also put in a lot of extra time recording and editing the online services from late March through most of June. Scott made a motion to compensate Joshua and Allison as music directors for July. Cindy seconded the motion and it carried.

Pastors' Report: Pastor Nick gave their report.

Board and Committee Reports

Worship and Music–Cindy Sjoquist: They are scheduling ushers and greeters for the worship services.

Evangelism–Lisa Emkovik: Nothing new to report.

Christian Education—Becky Haugen: Sunday School will be online only for September. In-person Sunday School may possibly begin in October depending on what the policy will be for school this fall.

Youth Ministry—Monica Erickson: They had discussion about if we can or how to reimburse families for the deposits given for the Youthworks North Carolina trip that was supposed to occur in July 2020. They were not able to get full refund from Youthworks, due to the Covid-19 situation ($900 was not refunded, $900 was put on waiver to spend by the summer of 2022, $900 was refunded back to the church). They do not have the full funds to reimburse every child their $100 deposit. Their best option may be to fill out a funding request application from Mission Endowment, to try to make up the money to pay families back. Future trip options include a possible plan for a cabin camp and/or a boundary waters trip for next summer. We plan on keeping the trip for next summer within our congregation, so we do not run into the same situation as this summer. The ELCA youth gathering was cancelled for the summer of 2021 and rescheduled for the summer of 2022. For the summer of 2022, they plan on the older youth attending the youth gathering and the younger youth going on a mission trip. Fundraisers for the youth this fall and winter will hopefully be sub sales and Christmas decor (wreaths, swags, spruce/evergreen pots, gift cards) through Sargent's in Red Wing. They plan on splitting up the confirmation classes to keep the numbers low for each meeting. They are still working out the exact details, but each grade will attend one in-person Wednesday class per month. They are planning to have Confirmation take place in October yet, but not during the worship service to control the number of people in church. They will have the Confirmation service on Sunday afternoon after the normal worship service.

Congregational Life—Maja-Lina Lundell: Nothing new to report.

Church Property—Randy Benson: The exterior painting project is done. Randy made a motion to transfer $5,000.00 from the Building Fund to pay Gary Ring for the painting project. Brian seconded the motion and it carried. The rental cost for the lift needed to paint the steeple was $3,000.00 for one week. Randy also used the lift to do some repair to the doors on the steeple before painting, and to repair a lightning rod cable. Randy will now contact the stained glass windows repair company to tell them that we are ready for them to start that project. Randy has ordered some new LED lights for the steeple and one new yard light. Glen Lundell is going to repair/replace the log cabin door, landing, and steps.

Stewardship—Scott Hanson: Scott participated in a Vanco webinar on July 22nd. Scott downloaded a Giving Study that Vanco developed that shows increased giving statistics for congregations that encourage and accept electronic means of giving.

Missions Board—Christy Collins: There will be no FMSC packing event this fall in Cannon Falls due to Covid-19. They will be researching other options to help with global hunger this year.

Executive Committee: Nothing new to report.

Archives Committee: They are planning on meeting to assemble the new photo stand for confirmation pictures.

Mission Endowment Fund Committee: They met on July 20th. They had no funding requests. They are going to send a letter to previous funding recipients for some possible funding requests.

Announcements:

August 9th Installation of Council & Mission Endowment Committee Members

Next council meeting: September 3rd

Pam's Helper: August – Lisa; September – Brian

Closing prayer next month: Brian

Adjournment: The closing prayer was given by Lisa. A motion was made by Scott, seconded by Brian, and carried to adjourn at 9:10 pm.

Stan Lundell, Secretary

If you have been exposed to COVID-19 within 2 weeks, please do not attend worship. If you have tested positive for the virus, please stay home for the time recommended by the CDC.

* During Sept. Sunday School will be online. If Sunday School starts in person at some point after that, this policy will need to be modified.

* At this point we will not be offering communion. Changes to the policy will need to be made when we start serving communion.

Progress is being made on our church building projects. Exterior painting was completed Aug 1st. Gary Ring completed the entire exterior painting project in about a week. He completely pressure washed the building, applied a primer coat, then a paint coat. It really turned out great! While the big lift was here, a few other steeple maintenance projects were completed as well. Before the paint, siding on the bell tower shutters was repaired, and the damaged lightening rod cable was replaced and re-attached to the steeple. Also, while the lift was here, the trees in front by the sidewalks were trimmed up to allow more light from security light through and to prevent trees from rubbing on overhead wires. New lights for the steeple have been ordered, but as of this writing have not arrived yet. New LED floodlights will be installed that should be brighter, longer lasting, and more energy efficient. The stained glass window project should be underway by the time you receive this as well. Hopefully this project goes as well as the painting and looks just as good.

Some repairs to landscaping and to the sidewalks will have to be made due to damage caused by the big lift when getting it close enough to reach the steeple. This will be done sometime this fall, along with some new parking lot lighting. Finally, new lights by the entry doors will be installed. These also will be LED, with a few on motion sensors to come on when approaching the doors after dark.

As always if you see things that need attention, let me know.

Thanks,

Randy Benson

I would like to thank the congregation for the medical and church scholarships, and for the continual financial and spiritual support through the years. It is greatly appreciated.

DISASTER RESPONSE DERECHO STORM

The SE Iowa Synod Office of the Bishop is assessing the need as a result of the derecho storm that caused damage in a large part of the territory of the synod on Monday, August 10th.

Hello again. Well, Noah's graduation party is a thing of the past and all went well. I typically wonder what to write about for a newsletter article but this month the topic came to me easily.

Depression...even the word has a solemn connotation. Recently our extended family dealt with a family member with depression symptoms, so I decided to look up more info on this and more importantly how it affects men. So, here goes.

Men and women both express depression, but their symptoms can be very different. Because men who are depressed may appear angry aggressive instead of sad. Family, friends, even their own doctor may not recognize anger or aggression as a depression symptom. Men are less likely than women to recognize, talk about, or seek treatment for depression, yet it affects a large number of men.

Everyone feels sad or irritable and has trouble sleeping once in a while, but these feelings and troubles usually pass after a couple of days. Depression is a common but serious mood disorder that may cause severe symptoms. It affects the ability to feel, think, and handle daily activities. A person recently spoke eloquently in a Facebook post about depression and shared how depression had affected her ability to function daily.

Also known as major depressive disorder or clinical depression, a person, man or woman, must have symptoms for at least 2 weeks to be diagnosed with depression. Depression symptoms in men and women can be very different. For example, some men hide their emotions and may seem to be angry or aggressive, while women seem sad or express sadness. Men with depression may feel very tired and lose interest in work, family, or hobbies, and are more likely to have difficulty sleeping than women who have depression. In men sometimes mental health symptoms appear to be physical issues. Some issues could be a racing heart, tightness in the chest, ongoing headaches, or digestive issues. Some men turn to drugs or alcohol to try to cope with emotional symptoms. Also, while women with depression are more likely to attempt suicide, men are more likely to die by suicide because they tend to use more lethal means.

I've mentioned some of these symptoms before but here is a list of common symptoms:

- Anger, irritability and/or aggression
- Feeling anxious or on edge
- Loss of interest in work, family, or once pleasurable activities
- Problems with sex drive
- Feeling sad or empty
- Not being able to concentrate or feeling very tired
- Overeating or not wanting to eat
- Thoughts or attempts of suicide
- Physical aches or pains
- Inability to meet responsibilities of work, family, or other activities
- Engaging in high risk activities
- Need for alcohol and/or drugs
- Withdrawal from family or friends, or becoming isolated

A person does not need to have all these symptoms to be diagnosed with depression.

There are various causes of depression, some being genetic, environmental stress, or illness.

Treatments usually include medication and psychotherapy.

There should be no shame in admitting you are depressed, but there is a stigma. Please examine the symptoms and seek treatment.

A lot of this material was taken from the National Institute of Mental Health.

I wanted to add another thought... While God can miraculously heal someone of depression, God also uses people in mental health to help heal.

In these uncertain times, a person's faith can be shaken. I came across an acronym for faith.

- F facing
- A all
- I I
- T trust
- H him

Yvonne Salmonson RN, Parish Nurse

For the healing of the nations,
we pray to you, O God.

“The steadfast love of the Lord never ceases, his mercies never come to an end; they are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.” Lamentations 3:22-23

I have yet to meet a single person who has not been challenged by this pandemic. The reality is this pandemic is hard for everyone. That isn't to say there haven't been opportunities for growth or new learnings. It is to say: this is hard for everyone. Pastors, deacons, congregational leaders, teachers, nurses, hospital administrators, school boards and superintendents, government leaders, school bus drivers, CNAs, construction workers, parents, those with underlying health conditions, the homebound...the list goes on. Pandemic living has brought new challenges to all of us.

As we look to the beginning of a new school year and the start of a new program year, I want to offer you a framework for thinking. This framework is rooted in grace and a reflection on what embodied grace might look like in this time.

First, it is essential we understand pandemic living is hard for all of us. Many of us are being tasked with making decisions that feel impossible. Stress and anxiety surge as we have difficult conversations and try to navigate a way forward. This is likely true for you. Remember, it is true of the people around you too. Allow this recognition to fuel empathy and compassion.

Extend this compassion to others and yourself. This grace and compassion might come in the form of adjusted expectations. The truth is we cannot do things the way we have always done them. The best science available tells us we need to make adjustments for the sake of our health and the health of our neighbors. Some of these adjustments are small: wash your hands more often and count to twenty when you do. Some of them take more time getting used to: wear a mask in indoor public gathering spaces. Some of them feel huge, like we're making changes and we don't yet know the outcome: school comes to mind.

These adjustments can feel overwhelming, especially if we are more committed to the way we do something rather than the reason. Let me explain with an illustration.

In your congregation there is likely a particular way confirmation classes happen. Perhaps you meet in the youth room on Wednesday evenings for an hour with thirteen kids. The pastor teaches a lesson. Everyone eats ice cream. It is lovely. These are the ways you are used to having confirmation in your congregation. The reason you have confirmation is to teach the faith to the children of your congregation. The reason you have confirmation is so students know they are loved by God. The reason you serve ice cream at confirmation is so kids have time to connect and build a community of faith in a social setting.

If we can adjust our expectations around the ways we do things and instead focus on the reasons we do things we might find space to continue living in this pandemic reality with a bit more freedom and grace. The same applies to worship and Bible study and outreach and all the other wonderful things your congregation does. You can continue to worship. You can continue to learn. You can continue to serve your community. You might just have to continue to find new ways to do so.

I know it can be exhausting to have to try so many new things. Which is why we must also adjust our expectations of ourselves. We aren't going to get every new thing right the first time. I don't.

Maybe the first time you held an outdoor worship service it was a disaster. Perhaps the microphones didn't work and the wind blew everything over. The ways might need to be adjusted. That's okay. If you remember the reason for gathering your perspective might shift. Focusing on the reasons we do things allows us to focus on what is essential and work out from there. If the reason for worship is to gather people to worship God, be fed through the proclamation of the Word and be sent into the world for service...well there are a myriad of ways this can happen. Focusing on the reasons frees us from fixating on the ways. The ways have to change. The reasons do not.

I understand we might be feeling decision fatigue and yet, there are more decisions ahead. We are going to have to continue to adjust and do things differently. Be sure to pay attention to your expectations of yourself and others. Do the expectations you have fit our current reality? Do your expectations need to be adjusted in light of all the other changes taking place?

Together, we are finding new ways forward. We are forging new paths and doing things in ways we haven't done them before. Adjust your expectations to ensure there is room for experimentation, failure, and plenty of grace.

Or sense of grace, of course, is rooted in the one thing that does not change: the steadfast love of God.

Other things might shift. The presence of the Spirit, the faithfulness of God, the hope of the resurrection - these things remain. Proclaiming this good news is reason to continue in the work God has called us to even if the ways we do so continue to change.

In this with you.

In Christ, Bishop Regina Hassanally
